RECOVERY INCENTIVES PROGRAM

Learn about this new effective treatment for stimulant use disorder!

- If you are enrolled in Medi-Cal you may get up to $599 in gift cards for not using meth, cocaine, and other stimulants.
- The program measures changes in stimulant use with negative drug tests.

HOW LONG IS THE PROGRAM?

- This outpatient treatment lasts 24 weeks.
- You must attend an in-office visit 2 times a week for 12 weeks.
- You then must attend an in-office visit 1 time a week for 12 more weeks.

CAN YOU GET MEDICATION ASSISTED TREATMENT (MAT) WHILE IN THE PROGRAM?

- If you have Medi-Cal and qualify for the program, you can keep getting other Substance Use Disorder treatments, including MAT.
- This program is not meant to replace MAT for opioid use or alcohol use disorders.

HOW DOES THE RECOVERY INCENTIVES PROGRAM WORK?

The Recovery Incentives Program provides Medi-Cal beneficiaries with small gift cards totaling up to $599 for not using meth, cocaine, or other stimulants, as measured by negative drug tests. Participants are rewarded for behavior change and receive support on their path to recovery.

If you are enrolled in Medi-Cal and have a diagnosis of moderate or severe Stimulant Use Disorder, you can utilize this program.

Giving someone money or a gift card can trigger the same feeling of reward in their brain as cocaine or meth. This can help them replace their stimulant use with the rewards!
